

University of Canberra

Master of Business Administration (Innovation and Leadership)

What to expect

Delivered by Ducere Global Business School and the University of Canberra, this qualification is designed to meet the needs of the modern learner through industry relevant and applied learning. By working on real projects with our industry partners, you'll gain insight into live business challenges and the practical skill set to tackle these challenges head-on.

With flexible online learning, unparalleled student support, and practical assessments with no exams, you can expect real skills that you can apply from day one.

You'll learn about

- » Leadership and management
- » Entrepreneurship and innovation
- » People and culture
- » Ethics and decision making
- » Business strategy
- » Finance for managers
- » Big data for managers
- » Marketing and communications
- » Digital operations and managing real projects

How it works

Learn from our Global Leaders Faculty, including prime ministers, business leaders, and other international experts. These insights will accelerate the learning process and expose you to a breadth of leadership and business experience.

You'll complete three industry projects with different industry partners (e.g. Seek, NAB, KPMG and others). This collaborative approach enhances your understanding of issues faced by leaders in a current industry context, and provides the opportunity to apply what you've learned – to deliver real outcomes.

What they say

"I met exceptional individuals, students and staff, who have become friends, mentors, and sources of inspiration. Our social capital and value potential was amplified by being forged on an academic anvil via real-world challenges – we became better, stronger, more vital. Personally, I evolved intellectually, emotionally, and socially. If you're seeking to benchmark personal excellence, Ducere is for you."

– Matt Archer, Graduate
